Coaching Philosophy

The Arlington Aces travel program strives to provide a more competitive playing environment than the house league but still stresses sportsmanship, learning skills, self-esteem, teamwork, and enjoyment of the game. While the effort to win is an important part of the game, an emphasis also is placed on the development of the physical and psychological needs of our youth. Since coaches have a tremendous influence with the players, they should be positive role models and provide opportunities to all players in both practice and game situations.

Do you understand and agree with this philosophy? Yes No
