Terms and Conditions

Before using The Arbiter .NET, please read and accept the following terms and conditions.

Advanced Business Technology, Inc. (developers of 'The Arbiter')

Privacy Statement

ABT Corporation ("Advanced Business Technology") has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate our firm commitment to your privacy. This document describes ABT's practices with respect to the collection of user information from this website and the use and disclosure of such information. This document only applies to the ABT site www.TheArbiter.net and our Arbiter Online URL and does not address the privacy of information we obtain from places other than our website. In addition, other sites on the web (including those we link to) have their own privacy policies and practices. In all cases we encourage you to ask questions and to provide data only to sites whose practices and personnel you trust.

Information collected and how it's used

We do not collect any personally identifying information about you unless you or the organization to which you belong voluntarily submits such information to us. The information that we have about you is sensitive information and we are diligent in our efforts to protect it. Depending on your group and the particular Arbiter features they use, that information may include your name, address, phone numbers, email address, social security number, and date of birth. Some or all of this information may be necessary for the application to perform some function correctly or for providing information required or requested by government agencies. When requesting technical support you may be asked to provide some personal information that we deem necessary to identify who you are and to associate you with one of our user groups. An ABT sales representative may call you to determine if you are interested in other ABT products or services. Such representative may ask you if you would like
